From the Pastor's Desk:

New must-see holiday movie is the best book adaptation ever. By Theresa Civantos Barber

Filled with the warmth and heart of an old-time classic, The Best Christmas Pageant Ever dazzles with the awe of the true Christmas message. It's not every day you take your kids to see a movie in theaters and realize, "We are going to watch this every year for the rest of our lives." But somehow, director Dallas Jenkins (of The Chosen) pulled it off with this year's top family film. Filled with all the warmth and heart of an old-time classic, The Best Christmas Pageant Ever dazzles with the awe and wonder of the true Christmas message.

The story of the six wild and unchurched Herdman children, who hijack a prim and proper Christmas pageant, begins as a comedy but ends with a powerful message. It's one of the best stories to help kids connect with the true meaning of Christmas. Naturally, the many fans of the 1972 novel The Best Christmas Pageant Ever were intrigued and a little worried to hear that it was being adapted to the big screen. I'm one of them. Having read it when I was around 10 years old, this simple but profound story was a step on my own path to faith and a relationship with Jesus. When I read it, I realized for the first time that the Christmas story wasn't just a pretty tale of silent nights and starlight but a real, intense, urgent, and earth-shattering moment in history. Best Christmas Pageant stayed with me, and I wasn't sure the film would capture its magic. In his hands, the movie became a perfect adaptation of the book.

I do recommend reading the book first, as the Herdman children's truly awful (and illegal) antics might be a bit jarring for younger viewers. Among other things, they steal, lie, smoke cigars, and deliberately burn down a toolshed. Yet the awfulness of these misfit children is exactly what makes their story so great. As one character says, "Jesus was born for the Herdmans as much as he was for us."

I wanted to see if my kids understood this unusual story, so I sat each of them down for a little interview. Here are their honest reviews:

"The Herdmans are so small to be so mean," said my five-year-old. "At first, they were bad and then they turned good. It's really funny and the best movie in the whole world."

My eight-year-old did not hold back her love for the film: "I nearly cried because it was so beautiful. It's my new favorite movie. It made me think about how God really loves us even if we're bad. Even if someone starts out mean, they can get better." She did add this word of caution: "Be very careful if there are annoying kids in your neighborhood, because they might burn down your shed."

Meanwhile, my 10-year-old said, "It was sad but good. It gives kids more of a feel of how much God is great. The Herdmans are evil but even after all that they even become good. This really helps kids, and grownups too, to see the Christmas story more clearly."

One of the few changes the director made to the original book was to underscore the role of the narrator's mother, whose steady faith in the Herdman kids carries the story. That's why many reviewers are calling it "an ode to moms." Moms will especially appreciate this aspect of the story and won't leave with dry eyes.

One of the funniest moments in the film is when the youngest Herdman, in the guise of the Angel of the Lord, yells, "HEY! Unto you a child is born! What are you waiting for?! Go see him!" All of us have a little of the wild Herdmans in us, and all of us have a little of the pearl-clutching church ladies too. Yet Christ loves each one of us, no matter how imperfect, silly, prideful, and awful we are. What are we waiting for? Let's go worship him.

Our Lady of Guadalupe Feast: December 12th

In 1531 a "Lady from Heaven" appeared to Juan Diego at Tepeyac, a hill northwest of what is now Mexico City. She identified herself as the ever virgin Holy Mary, Mother of the True God for whom we live, of the Creator of all things, Lord of heaven and the earth. She made a request for a church to be built on the site, and submitted her wish to the local Bishop. When the Bishop hesitated, and requested her for a sign, she sent Juan Diego to the top of the hill in mid-December to gather an assortment of roses for the Bishop. After complying to the Bishop's request for a sign, She also left for us an image of herself imprinted miraculously on Juan Diego's tilma, a poor quality cactus-cloth, which should have deteriorated in 20 years but shows no sign of decay 478 years later and still defies all scientific explanations of its origin. It apparently even reflects in her eyes what was in front of her in 1531. There is reason to believe that at Tepeyac Mary came in her glorified body, and her actual physical hands rearranged the roses in Juan Diego's tilma, which makes this apparition very special. An incredible list of miracles, cures and interventions are attributed to Her. Yearly, between 18 - 20 million pilgrims visit the Basilica, making it Christianity's most visited sanctuary. Altogether 25 popes have officially honored Our Lady of Guadalupe. Pope Saint John Paul II visited her Sanctuary four times.

St. Lucy

Feast: December 13th

According to the traditional story, Lucy was born to rich and noble parents about 283. Her father died when she was young. Fifty-two years prior to St. Lucy, St. Agatha, virgin & martyr, was executed. St. Agatha's fame attracted many visitors to her relics at Catania. Lucy and her mother, Eutychia, made the pilgrimage, where Eutychia was healed of a hemorrhage. Lucy persuaded Eutychia to distribute a great part of their riches among the poor. This angered the young man to whom she was betrothed. He reported her as a Christian. She was executed by with sword in the year 303. She was first condemned to suffer the shame of prostitution but in the strength of God she stood unmovable and could not be dragged away to the place of shame. God also saved her from being set on fire. According to some stories, St. Lucy's eyes were plucked out during her torture and God miraculously restored her sight. Her feast day is celebrated especially in Sweden, where elements of light and sight, as well as the martyr's crown, are combined in a beautiful family custom appropriate for Advent celebration.

A ROMAN CATHOLIC SCHOOL

Classroom News... Mrs. Marcia Montecalvo..Middle School Health

Middle schoolers have been learning a lot in Health class. We began the school year discussing Alzheimer's disease and learning about its effects. Students discussed the signs of the disease, treatments, and how caregivers are so essential. Then we moved onto the Health Triangle and physical, social, and emotional health. They watched a PowerPoint about each component and rated their own health. It was interesting to see the different triangle shapes they created. The best thing is that they learned about the ways to be healthier.

They also created their own Health Triangle project. They were colorful and had a lot of great information. They read an article about junk food and how to make better food choices. Decision making is now the topic in Health. They have learned about the three types of decisions. Then they worked together to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of each one.

Students are now discussing the five steps to good decisions. Then they will put these steps into action when they are given a situation that requires them to make a decision. Middle schoolers are having fun learning and improving their own health!
